Dear all,

Re: A Thank you from Kito Busch Community, Mukono, Uganda.

It's quite tearful for me to write down this note to you. Perhaps it would have been in the handwriting of many children, women and men from our village here in Kito.

Clean water here was out of our dreams, we had gotten used to the seasonal swamp shared both with animals at certain points.

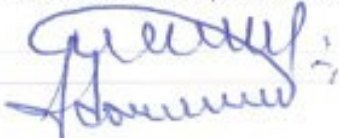

Honestly when we heard about your gift to us, it was quite hard to imagine that it would come true because of what we had got used too. So during the drilling, there was such a large crowd of people gathered around, the children actually wondering if water would come from under the ground.

Finally it was there! So now we get very clean water already pumped into the large tank and this water is really much and sustained. I personally envision that this water project will result in a number of positive things:

1. The children will learn to drink more water given the heat situations here, Ugandans usually have a struggle drinking more water during the day and this affects their health.
2. There will be a big reduction in water communicable diseases like Typhoid and dysentery and the bulging stomachs will cease.
3. Certainly many more children will be able to fully attend school, while the mothers can concentrate more in the household chores with fewer hours spent on search for clean water.

The benefits are beyond count. So I send you many thanks from all these precious people. Thank you for sharing your hard earned money to benefit us.

In Uganda we say- WE BAALE NYOO!!!
